The National Advisory Committee on Computing Qualifications (NACCQ) was formed in 1988, and provides help and support to member institutions in the development, teaching and quality assurance of courses and programmes, from certificate to degree level, in the field of Computing and Information Technology. The NACCQ also supports academic staff, in several different ways, such as national workshops, research seminars, APL, moderation, the publishing of a journal, and also by organising this annual conference. NACCQ activities and a digital version of these proceedings available from <http://www.naccq.ac.nz>
